

»» SkillsUSA Week is Coming: Are You Ready?

It's time to get energized for SkillsUSA Week, February 2–6! This is an exciting opportunity for your chapter to plan activities that raise awareness of SkillsUSA, increase member engagement, and recognize the educators and industry partners who support student success. SkillsUSA Week is a time for members to strengthen their skills and showcase how SkillsUSA plays an important role in personal and professional growth.

To get started, explore the SkillsUSA Week resources. You'll find ready-to-use artwork, a printable daily themes flyer, sample activities, a draft news release, a school morning announcement script, and more to help make planning easy and impactful.

Chapters can also request a virtual visit from SkillsUSA national officers during SkillsUSA Week. On February 3, national officers are available to join students for 30-minute sessions, providing greetings and taking your group through a fun lesson. Be sure to complete the virtual visit request form by January 30. Space is limited, and visits are available on a first-come, first-served basis.

»» Don't Miss Next Week's SkillsUSA Pathful Sessions!

Mark your calendars! We're hosting two live sessions next Wednesday to ensure you're getting the most out of your SkillsUSA Pathful access:

SkillsUSA Pathful (Focus: Resume Builder and Pathful 101)
Wednesday, Jan. 14 at 4 p.m. and 7 p.m. ET (60 minutes)

Join us for an introduction to SkillsUSA Pathful, your all-in-one platform for career exploration and workforce readiness. In this quick-start session, you'll learn how to navigate the platform, access live and on-demand career resources, connect with industry professionals, and integrate career exploration into your curriculum. We'll also unpack the Resume Builder tool, showcasing how students can build, export, and share resumes—and how advisors can access reporting features to support student success.
